DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-3, 5, 9-10, 11-12, 14 and 18-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Himmelstein (PGPUB US 2002/0032643).

Re. Claims 1, 9-10, & 18-20, Himmelstein discloses chain order (swapping barter items) input means permitting input of orders to sell or purchase a first type of fungible goods in the electronic market, and permitting the input of a chain order, the chain order being an order requesting, on condition of execution of an order for sale or purchase of the first type of fungible goods, purchase or sale of a second type of fungible goods, the second type of fungible goods being different from and not fungible with respect to the first type of fungible goods [see entire document particularly, Abs; Fig. 3, 5A-7E; page 1 paragraph 0001 to page 2 para. 0011; page 5 para 0047], and order detecting (find) means for automatically detecting execution of an order for purchase or sale of the first type of fungible goods with respect to which the chain order has been placed [page 3 para 0027-0032; page 13 para 0148], and chain order processing means for, responsive to the detection (finds) of execution of a buy or sell order for the first type of fungible goods by said order detecting means, automatically executing the chain order for the first type of fungible goods [page 3 para. 0038 to page 4. para. 0039; page 5 para 0052 to page 6 para. 0053; para. 0101], and conditioning execution of the second open order by interactively (negotiate) establishing a relation in the electronic market between the first open order and the second open order, by disallowing execution of the second open order until after execution of the first order [page 1 para 0003-0004].

Re. Claims 2, & 11 Himmelstein discloses chain order storing means for storing the chain order input from said chain order input means [Fig. 8; page 4 para. 0041; page 14 para. 0157], and deleting means for deleting, from said chain order storing means, the chain order with respect to which the automatic execution has been completed by said chain order processing means [Fig. 8; page 4 para. 039-0041; page 14 para. 0157-0159].

Re. Claims 3, & 12 Himmelstein discloses further comprising display means for selectively displaying those of the chain orders which include a sell or buy order for the second type of fungible goods and which satisfy a condition for sale or purchase of the second type of fungible goods [Fig. 2, 5A, 6; Abs; page 4 para. 0039; page 7 para. 0070].

Art Unit: 3628

Re. Claims 5, & 14 Himmelstein discloses further comprising price changing means for, responsive to a change in price of the first type of goods, automatically changing a price of the corresponding second type of goods of the chain order in an interlocked (linked) manner [Abs; page 5 para. 0047].

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 7-8, & 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Himmelstein.

Re. Claims 7-8, & 16-17 Himmelstein discloses tax deferred exchange and calculating fee [page 3 para. 0033-0034; page 7 para 0070; page 11 para. 0119-0127].

Himmelstein, explicitly, does not disclose further comprising tax amount calculating means for calculating an amount of tax to be paid as-a result of the execution of the chain order; and notifying means for notifying parties concerned in the execution of the chain order of the amount of tax calculated by said tax amount calculating means and further comprising transfer means for automatically transferring a price and a tax payable as a result of the execution from one to another of accounts of parties concerned in the execution. However, it is well known to one skill in the art that taxes are calculated on taxable items (sale and trades) per IRS rules or local sale tax rules and paid regularly by consumers, therefore Himmelstein system for tax is optional which means if a customer (trader) wants to pay the tax, the system can calculate tax.

Claims 4, 6 & 13, 15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Himmelstein in view of Nymeyer (US 3,581,072).

Re. Claims 4 & 13 Himmelstein, explicitly, does not teaches wherein said display means inhibits display of information about a buy or sell order for the second type of fungible goods (goods) included in the chain order when the chain order is placed, and displays the information after the chain order is executed. However, Nymeyer discloses this step [see entire document particularly, Abs; C1 L1 to C2 L38; C11 L50 to C12 L46; C30 L19-L55]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the Applicant's invention was made to modify the teaching of Himmelstein and include inhibiting displaying of information, as taught by Nymeyer, to control transfer of orders whenever there are no specific price order. Further the computer spread sheets are well known to one skill in the art where a user can selectively inhibits and/or protect any item (cell, row, column) from change or to hide the data from unauthorized user.

Re. Claims 6 & 15 Himmelstein, explicitly, does not teaches wherein said chain order processing means performs chain order processing in series if an order placed with respect to the second type of fungible goods to be transacted is a chain order. However,

Art Unit: 3628

Nymeyer discloses this step [Abs; C1 L1 to C2 L38; C19 L58 to C20 L23]. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the Applicant's invention was made to modify the teaching of Himmelstein and include explicitly chain order (swap) orders in series, as taught by Nymeyer, to proceed serially through entire list of orders starting from # 1.

Response to Arguments

4. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-9 filed on June 11, 2003 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Applicant is required under 37 CFR ' 1.111 (c) to consider the references fully when responding to this action.

US Pat 6,421,653 to May, Jul. 16, 2002 "Systems, methods and computer program products for electronic trading of financial instruments", this invention discloses a brokerage systems and methods, and more particularly, to the electronic trading of financial instruments such as derivative and interactive trading functionally.

US Pat 5,924,082 to Silverman et al, Jul. 13, 1999 "Negotiated matching system", this invention discloses a negotiated matching system that identifies potential counterparties to a transaction using criteria input by each user of the system and then enables communication between the counterparties so that the parties may negotiate the final terms and/or details of the transaction.

5. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Harish T Dass whose telephone number is 703-305-4694. The examiner can normally be reached on 8:00 AM to 4:50 PM.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Hyung S Sough can be reached on 703-308-0505. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is (703) 872-9306.
